Washington Twp. Authority Sells $975,000 Bonds

Money to Be Used to Purchase Fayette City, Roscoe Water Firms

Almost a million dollars worth of bonds were sold last night by the Washington Township Municipal Authority to finance the purchase of the Fayette City and Roscoe water companies.

The actual sale amounted to $975,000. Purchasing the bonds were investment bankers Arthurs, LeStrange & Co., of Pittsburgh.

According to an Authority spokesman, the money will be used as follows: $360,000 for the purchase of the Fayette City Water Co.; $325,000 for the purchase of the Roscoe Water Co.; $150,000 for improvements; and the balance to cover costs of the bond issue and other incidental expenses.

Interest on the bonds will fluctuate from three and three-quarter per cent to five and one-quarter per cent. The first bonds will not become due until 1961.

Hire Counselors

John E. Costello, a Charleroi attorney who is solicitor for the Authority, worked with bond counselors Bungwin, Ruffin, Berry and Pohl, of Pittsburgh, in arranging the transaction.

The Washington Township Authority was organized Aug. 21, 1952, but was inactive until late last year when negotiations began for the purchase of the Fayette City Water Co.

Until then the Authority was unable to reach agreement with the late J. N. Chester, of Pittsburgh, owner of the Fayette City firm. After Chester's death, his estate immediately offered the water company's assets for sale and the purchase was concluded on Dec. 11, 1956.

Last Feb. 15, the Authority announced the purchase of the Roscoe Water Co. This firm supplies water for Roscoe, Stockdale, Elco and Allenport.

No Personnel Changes

The Authority reported no changes in personnel at either water plants. James Hamer will serve as general superintendent over the system.

Almost 3,000 consumers will be serviced by the Authority's water system, including the sprawling Pittsburgh Steel Co. plant at Allenport.

Of the $150,000 earmarked for improvements, much of it will be used to extend water service into the Gillespie area.

No tax money will be used in the operation of the Authority. All bonds will be redeemed through water revenues.

Officers of the Authority include Joseph Buza, president; John Stump, secretary-treasurer; Louis Weiss, vice-president; Charles Sadowski, assistant secretary-treasurer, and John J. Wozniak. Costello is the solicitor.

All-out Drive On Polio

Medical Groups Plan Campaign To Inoculate as Many as Possible

CHICAGO (UP)— Medical authorities today launched a campaign to wipe out the threat of future serious polio outbreaks in the nation.

The attack is aimed against the crippling, death-dealing disease itself and at overcoming public apathy towards the Salk-polio vaccine.

The American Medical Association has asked all state, county and city medical societies to devote the next two months to vaccinating as many persons as possible between the ages of six months and 40 years.

An AMA spokesman said less than half of the nation's potential polio victims have been inoculated.

If 50 per cent of the remainder can be vaccinated before the start of the polio season, the nation will be well on its way toward ending all but the vestiges of the great crippler, the spokesman said.

Although this was the official starting date for the campaign, mass vaccination programs already were underway in some cities.

Physicians, who cut their fees in many cases, concentrated on the under-40 age bracket because it accounts for 90 per cent of the cases.

Vaccine Goes Begging

Supplies of Salk vaccine also are being distributed free in many areas. But the AMA warned the vaccine has gone begging because of public apathy.

The means of overcoming this apathy will range from doctor-to-patient chats in some communities to all-out newspaper, television and radio campaigns in others.

The Allegheny (Pittsburgh, Pa.) Medical Society said it was determined to "set a national example" in recognition of Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh who developed the polio vaccine

The society will try to inoculate every person in the area under

Ike Complains About Cough; Can't Shake It

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower was still complaining about his cough today.

He told John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, that he would like to "get away for a couple of days and get rid of this thing."

The Chief Executive, obviously expressing an off-the-cuff wish rather than a plan, said that, if necessary, he would be willing to go to Tucson, Ariz., to lick the cough which has annoyed him since his inauguration Jan. 21.

Lewis was one of a group who called on the President this morning to submit a report on foreign aid.

Acting Press Secretary Murray Snyder told newsmen who asked about the President's cough that "there is no apparent change."

He said "no" when asked if he knew of any plans for the President "to go any place" to get rid of it.

DISCUSS AGREEMENT — Israeli foreign minister Golda Meir and ambassador Abba Eban talk to newsmen following a conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles over the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aqaba questions.

Some Discontent in Israel Withdrawal

By UNITED PRESS

Israel announces to the world today its historic decision to withdraw its forces from Egyptian territory. But already there were rumblings of discontent in Jerusalem over the "surrender" and suspicions by the Arab world of a "deal."

Mrs. Golda Meir, the Israeli foreign minister, planned to go before the United Nations General Assembly this afternoon to report compliance with a U.N. resolution demanding Israeli withdrawal.

The decision, reached in Washington conferences between American, Israeli and French officials, eases the immediate threat of war in the Middle East but may not end the crisis.

Arabs Reported Suspicious

Egypt and her Arab neighbors were reported suspicious of any "deal" that would reflect on Egyptian sovereignty, and there were stirrings of rebellion in the Israeli government against what some politicians called Israel's "surrender."

Britain welcomed the decision but the British press said the crux of the problem was still Egypt's insistence that a state of belligerency remained between Egypt and Israel.

An Israeli spokesman in New York said Israel would withdraw its forces behind the 1949 Palestine armistice lines in compliance with that resolution.

Insistence On Guarantees

Israel has insisted throughout the long negotiations it would never give up the Gaza Strip without guarantees against a repetition of Egyptian Fedayeen (Commando) attacks on Israeli villages, nor the Aqaba area without guarantees against the resumption of Egypt's blockade.

The United States, Britain, France and other maritime powers are expected to follow the Israeli speaker this afternoon and declare the Gulf of Aqaba an international waterway open to shipping of all nations.

This would run headon into the Arab position that the waters are territorial waters of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Jordan.

The United Nations is to send troops of its emergency force into the Gaza Strip to maintain order. Israel has stated it would never

Asks Democrats To Do Something To Cut Budget

ATLANTA (UP)—A Republican congressman, key party man and House fiscal leader, asks why the Democrats don't do something about the "Eisenhower budget."

That challenge was voiced here by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa), member of the House Ways & Means Committee and chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee.

Simpson sharply criticized spending policies of the Eisenhower administration in a speech here Thursday night before the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute.

But Simpson said it will be up to the Democratic Congress to do something about it if the people are to get any tax relief.

"I do not mean to imply carping criticism of the very real progress made by the Eisenhower administration" in bringing the budget into balance, he said.

But the federal government under President Eisenhower has not been allowed "to return sufficiently to the conviction that the American taxpayer can better spend his dollar than the federal government," he said.

Arthur Miller Pleads Innocent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Arthur Miller, 41, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, pleaded "not guilty" in a quiet, firm voice today to contempt of Congress charges.

Federal District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin scheduled Miller's trial for May 13 and fixed bond at $1,000.

"I plead not guilty," Miller said in a low, even tone. He was accompanied by his attorney, Joseph L. Rauh Jr., Washington.

Miller was indicted for contempt for his refusal to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities last June whether some of his former associates were Communists.

3,000 Strike In Schenectady

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UP)—A strike of 3,000 production and office workers at Alco Products, Inc., plant here brought operations to a standstill today.

A company spokesman said 2,500 production workers walked out at midnight after a breakdown in negotiations on a new contract. About 500 office workers joined the strike.

The United Steel Workers union set up picket lines around the plant. A detail of police was sent to the plant, but there was no disorder.

The union said similar strike action took place at the Dunkirk and Auburn plants. More than 5,000 employes were affected by the strike in the three cities.

Pinball King Dazzles Probers Looking into West Coast Teamsters

Asked About Charge He Paid Bribe to President of Union

WASHINGTON (UP) — Stanley G. Terry, a glib pinball operator with a yearning for dignity, testified today a West Coast Teamsters Union leader would not let him stay in the union at a time when teamsters pickets were helping a rival to monopolize the pinball business in Portland, Ore.

Terry told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee that the late John J. Sweeney, secretary-treasurer of the Western Conference of Teamsters, refused to discuss a contract with him.

Terry wanted in the union. Teamsters were picketing a cafe whose owner had refused to throw out his machines and take those of a union-backed firm, Terry said.

The fast-talking Terry was recalled for questioning about testimony that he paid $10,000 to Frank W. Brewster, president of the Western Teamsters Conference, to get into the union and break the monopoly.

Racketeer James B. Elkins testified Thursday that Terry paid $10,000 "or more" to Brewster.

That ended the union-controlled monopoly. Elkins said, because Terry was a big operator.

Room For Explanation

There was no immediate explanation of why Brewster allegedly took the $10,000 and gave up a pinball machine monopoly controlled by his union which, according to testimony, could have grossed $250,000 yearly.

Brewster's turn to talk, if he will, comes later. He has been subpenaed to testify Monday. He was "invited" to be on hand Thursday. But if he was present in the crowded, klieg-lighted Senate committee room, he did not make his presence known.

Brewster, a vice president of the giant Teamsters Union and head of its Western Division, already is under contempt of Congress citation for refusing to answer questions of a previous Senate investigation.

Robert F. Kennedy, the special committee's "prosecuting attorney" and brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), promised other testimony today about a bribe involving the Teamsters Union — chief target thus far of the headline-packed investigation.

Kennedy refused to give any advance details of the alleged bribe.

Terry, who said he operated 200 or more pinball machines in Portland, had his first session with the committee Thursday.

He caused more than one chuckle by such remarks as, "I have done everything in my power to lend dignity to coin machines."

An account of Terry's relations with the Teamsters was spread on the record Thursday by Elkins, who has described himself as "disenchanted" with his attempted dealings with the Teamsters.

Elkins, a smooth gray-haired Texan with a record of arrests, previously testified that Brewster sent two of his Seattle gambler friends to organize Portland's vice and gambling.

They were to contact Elkins and take over the city's gambling, prostitution and other vices after electing a union-backed district attorney.

Disarmament, Stassen Now Under Dulles

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today switched Harold E. Stassen's Office of Disarmament to the State Department and ordered him to report directly to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles hereafter.

Stassen remains as a special assistant to the President but as of today his operations were transferred to the control and guidance of the secretary of state.

Stassen hereafter will have two offices—one at the State Department and the other at the White House.

He still will go to London as chairman of the U.S. delegation to the March 18 conference of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee. But he will operate under the supervision of Dulles.

Dulles and Stassen conferred with Mr. Eisenhower on the shift this morning. The new set up was announced by Dulles after the meeting.

Dulles said it was agreed "that in view of the fact that the disarmament program now is primarily in the phase of negotiations with foreign governments, Mr. Stassen's work in that respect would be carried on from the State Department and under the guidance of the secretary of state."

Dulles said this would not involve any change in Stassen's status as a special assistant to the President.

Stassen denied reports that he planned to resign after the London talks. He said he intended to remain on the White House staff.

Asked about his plans to run for governor of Pennsylvania, Stassen said: "I will make no political comment this morning whatsoever."

Four in Irwin Family Hurt

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Five persons, including four members of an Irwin family, were injured Thursday night in a collision of two automobiles on Route 30 at Lincoln Heights, four miles west of here.

Madeline Demilo, 25, Jeannette, driver of one car, was detained in Westmoreland Hospital here in "fairly good" condition with a chest injury, fractured toe and possible brain concussion.

Clifford Clem, 26, Irwin, driver of the other car, and his wife, June, and children, Sharon, 3, and Allen, 2, were taken to the Monsour Clinic on Route 30, midway between Greenburg and Jeannette. Allen was detained with undetermined injuries. The others were treated and released.

Turtle Creek Man Killed by Train

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Ralph E. Hall, 26, of 816 Thompson St., Turtle Creek, was killed by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train today in the Hawkins Station at Rankin.

The train, the Trail Blazer-General, struck Hall a glancing blow.

C. A. Perry, the engineer, halted the Chicago-to-New York streamliner to report the accident to Rankin police.

Stolen Car Found

A car stolen from Jack Tennina, of 128 Schoonmaker avenue, early Wednesday, was found abandoned yesterday on Grand boulevard, police reported today.

Mercer County Man Killed in 'Pike Accident

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — A Mercer County man died in Mt. Pleasant Frick Memorial Hospital today of injuries suffered in a pile-up on the Pennsylvania Turnpike involving four automobiles and a tractor-trailer.

State police identified the dead man as Thomas New, 67, Greenville. Three others, including New's wife, Mary, 67, were injured in the chain-action accident and were admitted to the hospital.

State police gave this report:

An auto driven by Thomas Larees, 20, a soldier stationed at Fort Dix, N.J., skidded off the slippery roadway one mile west of the Laurel Hill Tunnel, crashed into an embankment, rolled over twice and came to rest back on the highway.

A tractor-trailer driven by Ivan L. Dunleavy, 37, Elizabethville, Dauphin County, slowed down to a stop at the scene of the accident and was struck from the rear by a car driven by Michael Mance, 30, which in turn was struck in a similar manner by an auto operated by A. J. Taylor, 68, Stoneboro, Mercer County.

The fourth auto, driven by Nelson Pardon, 27, Roxbury, Mass., skidded when Pardon braked hard to avoid the pile-up and crossed the medial strip. It collided headon with a car driven by John L. Witherstine, 58, of Warren, Ohio.

More Charges, No Evidence in Pardons Probe

HARRISBURG (UP)—Two days of public hearings by a special legislative investigating committee produced more charges but no evidence that political considerations may have influenced actions of the state Pardons Board in several clemency cases.

The committee called up two witnesses Wednesday who said that in their opinion politics played a part in the board's recommendations to the governor, but they were unable to substantiate the charge beyond a mere "feeling."

The most outspoken critic of the board to date was Delaware County Judge Arthur P. Bretherick. He termed two of the board's commutation actions in Delaware County cases "ridiculous" and "asinine" and suggested that the Legislature "rip out" the board as it is now constituted and substitute one "not affected by politics."

"The board should be like Caesar's wife—above suspicion," he said.

Bretherick, a former Delaware County GOP chairman, made it clear that he was not only attacking the actions of the present Democratic-member board. The board under previous Republican administrations also allowed politics to enter into its deliberations, he said.

Peoples Gas Gets OK For Increase in Rates

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has authorized the Peoples Natural Gas Co. of Pittsburgh to increase rates for its 242,000 customers in 13 western Pennsylvania counties by $1,288,067 annually.

By a vote of 4-1 the commission cut more than half from the $2,609,312 increase sought by the utility. The company was ordered to file new rates reflecting the increase by March 13 and make them effective March 2.

The commission's action sustained in part protests against the proposed increase by the cities of Pittsburgh and Johnstown. The original rates sought by the utility would have increased charges for residential, commercial and industrial consumers by 5 per cent annually.

Under the new schedule customers will have their bills covering the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas used in any month raised by 25 cents instead of the 50 cents proposed by the company. Consumption charges in the second block, in which most residential and commercial users fall, will pay 1½ cents per thousand cubic feet more but this amounts to only half what the company sought.

Charges in the next block, covering usage between 500,000 and 1,000,000 cubic feet will drop from 67 to 56 cents per thousand.

The commission last month refused to permit the utility to put its proposed rates into effect on a temporary basis until a final order in the rate case was drafted. The rates were filed to become effective last June 2 but were suspended for nine months by the commission.

Redstone School Debt Decreasing, Principal Says

The Redstone Townshp School District has a "very good chance" of getting completely out of debt by the end of the current school year, Supervising Principal Alfred Defigio said yesterday.

He said the debt-free possibility depends on three "ifs". They are:

If taxes come in as anticipated; if the state passes the Deficiency Appropriation Bill which would recompense the district for the $18,000 it has spent on salary increases, and if the school district's request for special state aid — the exact amount has not been announced — is approved before the end of the fiscal year.

Defigio said the district has already come a long way in a remarkably short time. At the start of the last school year, the district owed the bank $233,000 and was behind five weeks in teachers' salaries.

Today, he stated, the district doesn't owe the bank a cent. And, in addition, there is enough money in the bank to pay the teachers and other school employes for the remainder of the school year.

The district, however, does have about $40,000 yet in unpaid current bills. Defigio said he is confident "we'll be able to clear them away, too, and end the school year in the black."

State Sells 100 Cars; Loses Little

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Property and Supplies Department announced today it sold 100 automobiles, ranging from 1946 to 1955 models, for $25,744.

Seven 1955 autos, purchased for $1,153, were sold for $1,060, or only $93 under their original cost two years ago. The vehicles were sold to private individuals, dealers and state employes.

The department said another 80 cars will be sold March 26.

Children Should Eat Proper Foods Daily

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Let's be practical about this business of eating the proper foods every day.

The bold truth, as every mother well knows, is that children just aren't going to do it, no matter how important the doctor says it is.

Every child has an "off" day. That's to be expected; but don't make it worse by insisting that he should eat all the food you think he must have.

It won't hurt him to miss some or even most of these essential foods for one day. In fact, you'll probably do more harm by nagging him to eat.

But if he begins refusing certain foods day after day, that's something else again.

Each day — with a few exceptions, as I have said — your youngster should have a minimum of two glasses of milk, one egg, a potato and at least one or two green or yellow vegetables, at least one serving of meat, cheese or beans, two servings of fruit juice or whole fruit, some whole grain or enriched bread and cereal and butter or fortified margarine.

When he starts turning down these foods repeatedly, you've got to take some action.

For one thing, don't let anyone at the table — father, sisters, brothers, even yourself — refuse to eat the dishes you want your youngster to eat. Children love to imitate others. Don't even discuss your likes and dislikes at the dinner table.

Try serving your vegetable and meat dishes a little differently. You'll find several good suggestions in your cook book. After all, we all get tired of the same food prepared in the same way.

Serve new dishes, too. Offer them to your youngster in small amounts at first and if he doesn't take to them right away, don't force them down his throat. Wait a few weeks and then try them again.

One more thing. Many parents have trouble getting their children to drink enough milk. Uusually, if it is both fresh and cold, kids love it. But if your child doesn't, give him flavored milk drinks once in a while. And see that you use plenty of milk in preparing creamed soups, vegetables and desserts. Then he'll get it one way or another.

Famed Lawyer Pleased with His TV Career

NEW YORK (UP) — Joseph Nye Welch, perking at 66, is preparing for another session on TV with "Omnibus." The medium is, he admits, pretty heady stuff for an old campaigner.

It was Welch, a Boston lawyer, who was catapulted to fame three years ago when he essayed the role of special counsel to the Army during the Army-McCarthy hearings. For one multi - week stretch, his face was seen on TV almost as often as Arthur Godfrey's.

Since that time, Welch has appeared four times on "Omnibus" —once, in a study of his boyhood and three times in a series devoted to the Constitution. His next appearance on the ABC-TV show will be March 24 when he and choreographer Agnes DeMille will split the legal-artistic comment on a ballet devoted to Lizzie Borden.

"You ask me why I do TV?" said Welch with a wry grin. "Well, I'm doing this next show on 'Omnibus' chiefly because of a dinner conversation I had with Agnes DeMille. We got to talking about it and it interested me.

"But why I do TV at all, I guess, is something else. Let me put it this way—I'm an old man and I've been a lawyer all my life. And the law is a delightful field.

Penn State in Plea for Funds For Expansion

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) — Pennsylvania State University President Eric A. Walker said today the state must boost its appropriations for the school sharply if Penn State is to meet its "educational responsibilities."

Pointing to the pyramiding number of persons seeking admission to the university, Dr. Walker declared the $27.7 million biennium appropriation recommended by Gov. George M. Leader falls "far short" of meeting the school's minimum obligations for 1957-59.

Penn State will abandon its plans for new men's and women's dormitories, now projected for 1960, if the state "indicates a wish to stabilize enrollment at its present figure," he said.

If the university is to meet the "real and projected enrollment bulge which soon will engulf the state's colleges and universities," he said it will have to:

Salary Adjustment Needs

—Adjust salaries not only to attract new personnel, but also to hold its present faculty and staff.

—Modify its program to enroll more women applicants.

—Provide necessary facilities to enable expansion.

"The faculty problem in itself is staggering," Dr. Walker said. "Faculty members have not shared adequately in general wage increases, and the competition from business, industry and government tends not only to keep the number of new teachers down but also to drive highly qualified teachers out of our classrooms and into other occupations."

He said Penn State only recently boosted fees beyond the level of most Land-Grant colleges. The increased cost of public education, added to the high degree of selectivity resulting from lack of classroom and housing space, he said, is sacrificing the whole philosophy of the state institution.

Low Cost Education

Penn State's aim, he said, traditionally has been to extend educational opportunities to the young people of the Commonwealth at relatively low cost.

"Even now, a high school graduate either must finish in the first two-fifths of his class or place high in an entrance examination to gain admission to Penn State," Dr. Walker said.

"As the demand for admission grows, the restrictions will grow increasingly more drastic, and eventually only the select few will be able to get into college.

Present enrollment at Penn State is more than 14,000 and if the school is "provided with the resources to meet its educational responsibilities," the student body will grow to 20,000 or more by 1965, he said.

"This will probably represent a smaller percentage of those applying for admission than we now accept," Dr. Walker said.

"If the money needed to operate the institution under frugal management is not forthcoming, it will be necessary to stabilize our enrollment at or near its present figure."

Cable Repairs Going Smoothly In Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, O. (UP) — Telephone cable repairs continued smoothly in Scioto County today as union members slowly returned to work at the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. for the first time in more than seven months.

More than 30 strikers, mostly repairmen, were reinstated and immediately began work to splice the cables slashed during a vandalism raid last Friday night. The final incidents in the long strike knocked out more than 20,000 telephones in the county.

The Communications Workers Union and the company finally signed a new 16-month contract in Columbus Wednesday, ending the strike.

A majority of union members ratified the pact. The only holdouts in the 24-county area served by Ohio Consolidated and affected by the 228-day walkout were in Circleville and Wilmington. Workers, however, had three days in which to return.

Meanwhile, Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff, assigned here, found the Portsmouth CWA Local 4371 and 20 of its members guilty of contempt of court.

The judge said they violated an injunction by Scioto County Judge Vernon Smith and Adams County Judge James W. Lang Jr. regulating strike conduct.

Radcliff declined to impose sentences, assessing the defendants only the court costs.

"To sentence you at this date to appropriate punishment," he said, "would be an act of vengence."

Parochial School Shutdown May Come

AUGUSTA, Maine (UP)—Catholic lay leaders threatened today to shut down parochial schools and turn the responsibility of education over to already - crowded public schools.

William N. Bean, father of six children and spokesman for the Catholic group, said 900 pupils will be shifted to public schools unless the city provides parochial school children with transportation.

Prison Gets Music On Its Telephones

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Bell Telephone Co. officials explained today that it was "crossed wires" which caused phones at Western Penitentiary to give forth with soothing music when picked up.

A leased circuit carrying music for broadcast in plants and offices was accidentally hooked into the big prison's telephone lines Thursday.

Moral Training of Teenager Important

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — High school principals in all parts of the nation regard the moral training of teenage youths as one of their most urgent problems, a United Press poll disclosed today.

But principals who participated in the poll had a wide variety of ideas on how ethical and spiritual values can be taught effectively in public schools.

They were sharply divided on what role religion should play. Some strongly favored non-sectarian religious observances and objective teaching about religion as part of the school program. Others contended that religion must be excluded entirely from public school efforts to develop high moral character in students.

The poll was conducted among 40 principals selected at random among delegates to this week's annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals. Every section of the nation was represented among the respondents.

The first question was whether public high schools should make a "special effort" to teach moral and spiritual values.

Twenty-six principals rated this task "imperative." Thirteen chose the term, "desirable," only one said it is "unnecessary."

Each principal was then asked to outline briefly what his school is now doing in this field.

Variety Of Programs

Four replied that no particular effort is being made. The other 36 principals reported a wide variety of programs.

Religious observances of some type were listed by 13 principals as an integral part of the moral guidance activities of their schools. Morning devotionals, featuring Bible reading and prayer, were the most common pattern. One school broadcasts a daily five-minute inspirational program over its loud-speaker system to each classroom. Another brings in local ministers to address student assemblies. Five schools reported content courses in comparative religion or in church history.

Another widespread approach is to reach moral values in the context of regular curriculum courses, especially history, literature, social studies and psychology. About half of the principals listed this as their most effective device.

Student Organizations

Eleven principals said they got their best results by working through student organizations. For example, in several schools, student councils have drawn up "codes" of ethical behavior for students. Others feature student-led discussions of moral problems in assemblies, in Hi-Y clubs or similar activities.

The "example" set by a good teacher in her own daily life was mentioned by five principals as a major source of moral guidance for students. In several schools, this example is reinforced by direct counselling sessions in which teachers seek to help youths who seem to be in particular need of it.

Thruway Collects From the Law Several Times

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (UP)—The Ontario County sheriff's office would just as soon steer clear of the New York's Thruway.

Sheriff's men have had to pay tolls twice—adding up to 25 cents they didn't believe they should have been required to fork over.

The first time, a deputy was forced to pay a 10-cent toll to get on the super-highway to pick up a stray dog. Sheriff F. Earl Thompson battled with the Thruway Authority to get the dime back. But no luck.

Thompson's office got nicked again for 15 cents when Deputy Arthur F. Scammell took five gallons of gas to Fulton County Sheriff J. Joseph Dowden, who had run out of fuel while taking two teenagers to a state institution. Scammell's arguments with the attendant at the Manchester interchange was fruitless.

"We don't seem to get anywhere with those fellows," Sheriff Thompson remarked. "They have more rules than any organization I have ever seen."

Gleeson said more than 3,500,000 automobile and motorcycle plates will be issued this year. The 1956 registration year ends midnight, March 31.

"Bargain basement" inoculation programs ran into opposition from medical groups in some areas.

Society Refuses Approval

A mass vaccination program in Houston, Tex., came to a halt when that county's medical society refused to give its approval. The society objected that free clinics were not screening applicants to see whether they could afford the $5 doctors' fee.

The state medical society in Iowa issued a policy statement urging "that the use of public tax funds for the purchase of Salk vaccine be restricted to those who are unable to pay for the service."

Other major inoculation programs around the nation included:

Kentucky: Vaccination already begun in 95 of the state's 120 counties. Leaflets and letters sent to parents and children urging vaccinations.

New York: A program to provide vaccinations for 90 per cent of the state's under-40 age group launched by Gov. Averell Harriman. Doctors to turn offices into inoculation clinics, many indicated they would cut fees to $3.

Pittsburgh Club Investigation by Safety Director

PITTSBURGH (UP)—City Safety Director Louis Rosenberg opened a full-scale investigation today into the after-hours club wounding of the head of the police department's narcotics and vice squad.

Rosenberg said he was "assuming active control" of the inquiry into the shooting of Acting Lt. Allen Carnahan in a downtown clubroom early Sunday. The investigation had been in the hands of Police Supt. James W. Slusser.

Carnahan at first stated he had wounded himself while transfering his service pistol from one pocket to another. He later changed his story and named Shirley Cavanaugh, 28, Pittsburgh, who has a record of arrests for prostitution, as the gunwielder.

Miss Cavanaugh surrendered to police Tuesday night and was subsequently released on $5,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Rosenberg and other police officials went to the Athletic Boosters Association, where the shooting occurred, to make an on-the-spot investigation this morning.

Local 1462 represents production workers at the Briar Hill plant of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

March Lion Brings Freezing Rain, Snow

By UNITED PRESS

March moaned into Pennsylvania today as a dripping lion skidding on ice and sleet patches with the prospects he won't dry out until Sunday. Even then he will shiver.

Freezing rain, sleet and snow was predicted for most of Pennsylvania today. Cloudy and cold weather was predicted for the southeastern half of Pennsylvania Saturday, with the prospect of snow in the northwestern sections of the state.

Fair and rather cold weather was predicted for Sunday.

The month which brings spring found Pennsylvania wet and shivery, with sleet storms reported from all sections and a cautionary note from State Police that highways were passable but hazardous.

The rain and freezing weather came as a low pressure area 125 miles off the New Jersey coast began a sweep to the Canadian maritime provinces, and a low trough now over the Great Lakes began an eastward movement across Pennsylvania.

More than one-third of an inch of rainfall came during the past 24 hours in the wake of spring-like weather, a circumstance which aided greatly in preventing even more hazardous conditions. The Weather Bureau said had the ground been colder, much more ice would have formed.

State Police said the Pennsylvania Turnpike showed snow and ice in the western portions, and wet with icy spots on its eastern extensions.

A number of schools were closed in Southeastern Pennsylvania.

All main highways were open, but many secondary roads were sleeted and closed, the police said.

The early precipitation today was expected to end by evening throughout the state except for snow flurries near Lake Erie. High temperatures were expected in the 30s in the east and upper 20s in the northeast counties. Snow was possible in the northwestern half of the state with snow squalls in the Lake Erie region tonight.

Temperatures Saturday were expected to range mostly in the mid-20s in the northwest to the middle or upper 30s in the southeast counties.

The outlook for Sunday was fair and rather cold.

'Singing Boys' of Norway Big Hit Here Last Night

Large Audience Sees Distinctive Choral Group

"The Singing Boys of Norway", one of the world's most distinctive choral groups, gave a local audience a warmly satisfying evening last night.

The choir appeared at the High School auditorium under the auspices of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association. The audience undoubtedly was the largest in the five-year history of Civic Music.

Composed of both juvenile and young adult voices, the "Singing Boys" achieve some unique effects not matched by the two which have appeared here in recent years.

These were the famed Vienna Boys Choir and the Columbus Boy Choir, an American group. While the differences among the three groups make comparisons vague at best, last night's audience obviously felt that the Norwegians easily held their own.

Voices Have Beauty

Boys' voices have a beauty all their own, and when they are handled as expertly as these were by their venerable director, Ragnvald Bjarne, the effects can be lovely indeed.

The audience was particularly touched by some of the young soloists who displayed amazing control of their bell-like voices.

The inclusion of half a dozen tenors and basses, most of them former boy members of the choir, added a special richness to the program. Particularly noteworthy were Eigil Silju, bass, and Arne Eilif, tenor Both are understood to be remaining in this country at the conclusion of the present tour to pursue operatic careers.

The first half of the program was religious in nature. Several of the numbers were performed in eight voices, a difficult exercise for boy singers but done with rewarding results by Mr. Bjarne's group.

The second half was given mainly to folk music with the choir in native costume. It included a folk dance by Carl Mauritz Tanne, aged 14.

Mr. Bjarne had to respond with several encores and could only disperse the audience with, "Good Night, Ladies".

Leave for Nashville

Melvyn Simonsen was at the piano and played two dances by Grieg in solo.

The young singers and their director and escorts concluded a two-day visit to Monessen today, their chartered bus leaving at 11 a. m. for several concerts to be given in the South, the next at Nashville, Tenn.

The boys were quartered here with several district families and made many firm friends among their hosts. The four-month concert tour ends late in March in New York City where the group is scheduled to appear on the Ed Sullivan television show before sailing for Norway.

The boys also will be guests of the Norwegian Embassy in Washington for several days.

Marriage Course Begins Sunday

Couples planning to marry within the year are invited to attend the pre-marriage instruction course to begin Sunday at 2:30 p. m., at St. Leonard Church here, the Rev. Martin J. O'Toole, administrator, stated today.

The fourth annual marriage conference in Monessen, it is expected the course will attract many members of area parishes.

Directed by Father O'Toole, the course will run for seven successive Sundays and conclude April 14. He will be assisted by attorneys and physicians of the area discussing various religious, legal, budgetary and physical aspects of married life.

Discussion leaders will welcome questions at the conclusion of each lecture.

Four Are Promoted At Allenport Plant

Four promotions at the Allenport plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co. were announced today by Joseph E. Simonin, works manager. They are:

Thomas N. Jones, of 609 Wood street, California, who has been advanced from Monessen Southwestern Railroad conductor to assistant yard master.

Lin D. Cartwright

John Colditz, of Allenport, who has been named to the newly created position of fire marshal.

A. J. Vandermer, of R. D. 2, Monongahela, who has been named turn foreman on No. 3 Hot Mill, tube division.

Mike Yetseonish, 221 Main street, Fayette City, who has been named turn foreman on No. 2 Hot Mill, replacing Vandermer.

A native of McKeesport, Jones first came to Pittsburgh Steel in 1929 as a messenger boy. After completing school, he rejoined the company in 1932, worked at various tube division jobs and in 1948, transferred to the railroad. He and his wife, Hazel, have one daughter, Carol E.

Colditz joined Pittsburgh Steel in 1936 as a riverman. Later he transferred to the tube mill, where he was a reeler operator. He has been active in fire fighting and fire prevention and for a number of years has been chief of the Allenport Fire Company. He and his wife, Edith, have three sons, William J., James F., and Charles C.

Vandermer joined Pittsburgh Steel in 1917. His service in the tube division began in 1933. At the time of his promotion, Vandermer was turn foreman on No. 2 Hot Mill. He and his wife, Evelyn, have one son, Ronald.

Yetsconish has been employed at Allenport since 1937 and has worked at every position on the mill which he now supervises. His wife is Frances M. Yetsconish.

Navy to Test Assembly for Earth Satellite

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Navy will soon test fire the entire rocket assembly which is designed to carry the first earth satellite into space.

Rear Adm. John E. Clark, Navy guided missiles director, told a news conference today that tests of the full assembly — a chain of three rockets — are being prepared. The test firing will be at Patrick Air Force Base in Florida.

The United States plans to boost the satellite into an orbit 300 miles above the earth at a speed of 18,000 miles an hour. The satellite will be put up sometime during the International Geophysical Year which starts next July and runs for 18 months.

So far only one test has been announced. That involved the first stage rocket, a Viking, which reached a speed of 4,000 miles an hour.

Boyer Predicts Leader Will Be Senate Candidate

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania CIO Council closed its three day convention here Thursday after Harry Boyer, council president, predicted that Gov. George M. Leader would be the Democratic Party nominee for the Senate in 1958.

Boyer's prediction, which came after the governor addressed the 12,000 delegates, brought cheers from the floor.

The governor told the convention he would retire from public life if he fails to install a modern, administrative government at Harrisburg in place of "government for the lucky few."

Leader said he was determined "not to sabotage good government" because of what he labeled "partisan croakings" of criticisms of his administration's hiring of consultants on a per diem basis.

"We need brains in government," he said, "and we are willing to pay for them in proportion to the compensation they can get somewhere else."

"I will not, for the sake of those who want to return to government as usual, government for the lucky few, break faith with the people of Pennsylvania," Leader said. "Before I do that, I'll get out of politics."

Bridge Tourney Play Last Night

Life Master Aaron Ritter presented another in a series of lectures on defensive bridge play last night at a meeting of the Magic City Bridge Club at the Charleroi Elks. His topic was "Slam Bidding".

Ten tables were in play, and points counted towards the Lee-Norse trophy.

There was a tie for first place in north-south. Mrs. J. H. Carazola, of Canonsburg and Mrs. E. J. Feeney, of Brookline, earned the same number of points as Mrs. Alice Fiscus and Renie Henry, of Charleroi.

East-west winners were Harry L. Glick and Morris Gladstein, of Pittsburgh, first; Mrs. Sara Park and Betty Evans, of Fayette City, second.

Local Man Organizes Group for N. Y. Trip

A successful weekend New York trip has prompted a Monessen man to make plans for another similar venture in late April.

Thirty seven Monongahela Valley persons praised the two-day trip last weekend, in which a tour was made of some of the tourist attractions in New York City.

Norman Alterici, who lives in the Park Plan and who operates Dee's Record Shoppe in Charleroi, fostered the idea for the trip.

He asked a few of his friends and they liked the idea enough that it was decided to band together for the trip.

The group left Greater Pittsburgh Airport Saturday morning and returned on Sunday.

The group fee included accommodations at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, meals and tickets for television and stage shows.

"We aren't interested in promoting these trips to make money," Alterici said. "We just thought there would be a few persons in the Valley who would enjoy getting together for a weekend in the big city and getting to see a lot of things they otherwise wouldn't."

"Many of those who made the first trip were young ladies who wouldn't have had such an opportunity otherwise," Alterici added.

The group visited the Empire State Building, Radio City, the United Nations headquarters, Jerry Lewis' stage show and the Perry Como TV show in addition to many other television programs and interesting sightseeing tours.

Help in planning the tour came from Trans World Airlines.

Alterici said today that another tour is planned for late April, although a date has not been arranged.

"We hope to see several Broadway productions this time," Alterici said.

No change in the millage was made when the budget for Fayette City borough was presented to Council at the regular meeting held Wednesday morning in the borough building.

An estimated $21,229.51 expenditures was approved. It includes $2,461.04, general government; $4,053.13 for protection to person and property and $2,600, highway maintenance.

Taxes from real estate is estimated at $7,800 with a bank balance of $4,579.85.

The 20 millage tax rate, now in effect, will be retained as will the $5 per capita tax. The 20 mills will be used as follows: Nine mills for the general fund, five mills for street lighting and six mills for street construction.

The budget will be on display for the next 15 days at Miller's Real Estate office. Questions will be answered by Edward Shook, borough secretary.

John Canigiani, president, was in charge of the meeting. The use of the borough building was granted for permanent voter registration on Monday, March 18 between 2 and 8 p. m.

Shook read a letter he has sent the State Department of Forests and Waters, requesting that Cook's Run be cleaned and sewers laid from the east side of Main street to the river. This is the run that comes down Navaho Hollow.

A letter was read from Raymond Barker, Bellmar High School principal, requesting the use of the ballfield at the north end of town for use during April.

Canigiani said an application had been completed for a request for county aid in street construction. The county has promised, Canigiani said, the resurfacing of streets up to 1,000 feet and includes in the request was blacktopping for Short street, Plum Alley, Spalter street and Center streets, all in the hill district.

Others attending the meeting were LeRoy Gardner, Jacob Zubovic, and Norman Humphries.

Charles Lakel, vice president, presided at the regular meeting of the Fayette City School Board, Monday evening.

A discussion was held on the new Fayette County assessment program. James Thrasher, school principal, gave his monthly report.

Permission was granted to the janitor to dispose of all obsolete desks and chairs. Attending were George Hancock, secretary; Bernard Sarra and Edward Shook.

The First Project for A Better Monessen

THE PEOPLE of Monessen have been hearing and reading a great deal about city planning and redevelopment for the past couple of years. But now they have had a look at the first concrete proposal to result from the planning which has been going on.

The Redevelopment Authority, created by the City Council about three months ago on the recommendation of the Planning Commission, has requested federal-state financial aid for the rehabilitation of an area comprising about 27 acres at the northeastern corner of the city.

The Authority describes this area as one of the most blighted and sub-standard in Monessen, and we doubt that anyone will quarrel seriously with that description. And the fact that it embraces one of the most important entrances to the city makes its improvement doubly urgent in the Authority's appraisal.

This is a gigantic undertaking. The Authority estimates that it will require $2,700,000 to acquire the 27 acres and the homes and buildings on them.

For the purpose of its application for federal and state aid, the Authority estimates that the bare land, once it is acquired, will have a resale value of $600.000. Which makes the net cost of the acquisition, $2,100,000.

Once acquired, the land would then be made available for development by private or public investment in accordance with plans approved by the Authority. And these, of course, would be governed by the overall master plan for the city now being prepared by the City Planning Commission.

The east end project is but the first of several which are expected to be considered by the Redevelopment Authority. High on the list now is a quite similar plan for the western end, not yet ready for public announcement.

* * *

AN IMPULSIVE reaction to this initial proposal might be that it is too gradiose, too rich for Monessen's blood, too dream-like, too impractical.

But while we would not, even if we could, disguise the momentous proportions of this project, the hard fact is that redevelopment on this scale and in this precise fashion is rapidly becoming the rule, rather than the exception, for progressive American cities.

Indeed, such redevelopment has become urgently necessary for many cities — almost a matter of survival. And we do not think it is any exaggeration at all to say that either Monessen begins reasonably soon to check the blight so evident in the older parts of the city or Monessen has no real future as a community where people will want to live and do business and rear their families.

Our civic and governmental leaders, as well as the people themselves, will have to get used to thinking in terms which not too long would have seemed foolishly impractical. The job is so large and we have lost so much ground already that we risk being too late with too little if we make our plans and dedicate our resources and energies on anything but the most ambitious scale.

We say to the Redevelopment Authority, to the Planning Commission, to the City government and to all others concerned: Go to it, gentlemen; there is a community to be saved and a future full of promise if you will but think and plan and strive and let nothing discourage you.

Towards the Goal

BY THE TIME this is being read an agreement probably will have been reached on a plan by which Israeli troops will shortly be withdrawn from Egyptian soil.

The details of this arrangement are not available at this writing and therefore any extended comment is hardly in order.

It is not too early to say, however, that once again the patience, the skill and the dedicated purpose of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles evidently have borne fruit.

"Blessed are the peacemakers." said Jesus. Not always blessed, perhaps, in the speeches of U. S. senators. Not always blessed to those who put their ancient hates before the peace of the world, nor to those, such as the Soviet rulers, who promote strife to gain their ends.

But the peacemakers are blessed to the millions and millions of people in all the nations of the world who yearn for a world rid of war and where justice and order, not force, can rule. It is of such works as Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles are now performing in the Middle East that such a world can be built.

Behind The News—

Soviet Puts Squeeze on Tito Again

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia has opened a new campaign against President Tito of Yugoslavia as part of its attempt to tighten its grip on its satellites.

Criticism of Tito's "independent Communism" has been intensifying for several weeks in Russia and other Soviet bloc countries.

Marshal Tito

Now the Soviet government has put an economic squeeze on Tito by withdrawing from commitment to grant him promised credits of up to $250 million.

There is no doubt that the Russian leaders have opened up against Tito again because they regard him as a menace.

After the successful Polish revolt against Moscow domination, and the Hungarian revolt that failed, Russia is doing everything it can to safeguard itself against further trouble

Tough "Stalinist" leaders are being strengthened in all of the East European Communist satellite countries.

It is reported that one reason Russia reneged on its promise of credits to Yugoslavia is that Tito refused to help in the build-up by recognizing the East German Communist regime.

Dangerous To Russians

But aside from that, Tito remains an ever-present danger to Russian domination of Eastern Europe

He constitutes living proof that a Communist ruler can completely throw off Russian domination and get away with it. The surge of revolt in Eastern Europe has subsided, but it could start again at any time. Tito to Soviet leaders, is a horrible example of independence who might give others ideas.

The new Russian campaign comes at an embarrassing time for Tito

He has made no secret of his keen disappointment that he was compelled to cancel plans for him to visit the United States

The cancellation was due to the substantial opposition in the United States to the reception by President Eisenhower of a Communist leader.

The refusal of Mayor Robert F. Wagner to give an official reception to King Saud of Saudi Arabia showed Tito what he might expect

But the cancellation was a distinct help to the Soviet government.

Reason For Attacks

It is probable that one reason for the sharpened attacks on Tito is that the Russians are taking advantage of his embarrassment.

Tito is having a hard time economically, and he badly needed the credits which Russia withdrew from him.

But Tito is a fighter Attacks on him by Russian and satellite Communist leaders certainly will not soften him up On the contrary, they are likely to make him more eager, whenever he gets a chance, to strengthen his own influence in the satellite countries.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovich made a counter-attack on the Russian campaign in a speech in the Belgrade Parliament Tuesday.

He said that Russian and satellite leaders were trying to discredit Tito's policies and isolate Yugoslavia as it was isolated after Tito's break with the late Josef Stalin in 1948.

Popovich went out of his way to speak of the 'precious" aid Yugoslavia has obtained from the United States He said that differences between Yugoslavia and Soviet bloc countries could be eliminated only if Yugoslavia was accepted as it is, with an independent foreign policy. He said also that Russia's "Stalinist" policy of domination of other countries had done Communism more harm than all the anti-Communist activities of "imperialist" nations

Merry-Go-Round—

Ex-Envoy to Belgium Sore

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Fred Alger, Ike's Ambassador to Belgium, is sore as a boil over being relieved of his job A stanch Republican who contributed $1,500 to Ike's last campaign, the Ambassador didn't expect to be shelved

Mr. Pearson

Alger is especially sore because he is being recalled right in the middle of the big Belgian fair. He had worked hard to organize American exhibits to the fair

Ambassador Alger once ran for governor of Michigan against 'Soapy" Williams, but like all other Republicans who tackled "Soapy,' he got licked In matrimony he was more successful He won the delightful Suzette Dewey, daughter of ex-Congressman Charles Dewey of Chicago She was a great asset to the U. S in Brussels

Alger is now going back to his home in Detroit with blood in his eye He blames his forced resignation on Postmaster General Summerfield, a power in Michigan politics and chairman of the GOP National Committee in the 1952 election.

Alger confides to friends that he is going to see that Summerfield's political power in Michigan is shorn

NOTE 1 — Perhaps Alger's political demise may be due in part to the fact that he was not a heavy contributor Though he put up $1,500, this was low compared with the $60,000 from Clare Boothe Luce, former Ambassador to Italy, and her husband, publisher of the supposedly impartial Time, Life, and Fortune, also compared with the $62,000 from John Hay Whitney who becomes Ambassador to England; and the $36,000 from Douglas Dillon, retiring Ambassador to France.

NOTE 2 — Dillon was one of the best postwar ambassadors to serve in France, but got in wrong with the State Department when he told the truth about the real reason why the French and British pulled out of Suez. He said it was fear of Russia, not the United Nations.

Mailbag

Mrs. Douglas McKay, Salem, Ore. — I have your letter calling me a liar for reporting that your husband, the former Secretary of the Interior, left Washington prior to the inauguration because he was not invited to the ceremony. I note that the reason he did not attend was because he went on a vacation to Mexico on Jan. 11 For your information, we did our best to call your husband, but were informed he was traveling However, officials of the Republican National Committee who were handling invitations definitely stated that your husband was not and had not been invited. Nevertheless, I am delighted to accept your word, and may I also congratulate you on coming so vigorously to the defense of your husband In my opinion, official Washington could use a few more ladies like you and Mrs Charles E. Wilson More power to you, and I'm delighted to know that Governor McKay is "in the pink of health and spirits."

FCC Wire-pulling

Still another case of backstage wire-pulling at the Federal Communications Commission has come to light, this time involving a Pennsylvania GOP Congressman, Rep Alvin R. Bush, who partly owns the very radio station for which he pressured.

The station is WWPA, Williamsport, Pa., operated by Williamsport Radio Broadcasting Associates, in which Rep. Bush owns 400 shares of stock The company wants to build a new radio station, WARC, in nearby Milton, Pa.

The granting of an FCC permit to WWPA for a second station is vigorously opposed by competitors in Williamsport and Milton, who claim they couldn't survive against a two-station operation serving roughly the same area

Such multiple ownership of radio or TV stations serving the same area is barred by FCC regulations, unless there are special reasons for granting an exception. Despite this rule, the FCC granted a permit to Williamsport Radio Broadcasting Associates, Oct 5, 1955, without hearings and without explaining why it waived its own regulation.

Competitors of WWPA subsequently protested the award, leading to oral arguments before the full commission on Dec. 3, 1956.

Congressman's Pocketbook

Apparently worried over the delay, manager Woodrow W. Ott of Williamsport Radio Broadcasting Associates wrote to his fellow stockholder, Rep. Bush, asking that Bush and Sen. Edward Martin (R, Pa) intercede with FCC Chairman George McConnaughey.

"Dear Al," wrote Ott on Dec. 24, 'As you know, the record before the FCC on our Milton application is now complete. There remains only the final decision of the commission Our attorneys advise that it may be some time before the commission acts on this final decision unless we are able to convince them that early action is necessary.

"With this in mind" Ott requested, 'would you please at your earliest convenience make arrangements for both yourself and Senator Martin to make individual contacts with the FCC Chairman in the hope that you can get some early action."

With a financial stake in the outcome, Bush should have stayed out of the case However, he readily complied. First he had a staff member contact McConnaughey's office by telephone. Then he followed through with a letter to the FCC Chairman, Jan. 8. 1957

'I shall appreciate information on which to base a reply to the attached letter from Mr Woodrow W. Ott, manager Williamsport Radio Station WWPA," wrote Bush. "Please return Mr. Ott's letter with your reply."

Whether Congressman Bush's intercession influences the final FCC decision isn't as important as the fact that a Congressman exerted pressure on a supposedly independent regulartory body in favor of a radio station in which he is financially interested

Stassen Believed Still Presidential Hopeful

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The word on Harold E. Stassen is that he is thinking of seeking again the Republican presidential nomination although his status in the Eisenhower administration is just now a matter of doubt.

Harold Stassen

Some usually well - informed persons around town have written Stassen off altogether. They are confident that he shortly will be out of his job as special assistant to President Eisenhower.

His presidential ambitions are attributed to widely circulated reports that Stassen plans to seek election next year as governor of Pennsylvania. That would be a good beginning. Not much evidence of enthusiasm is in sight so far for Stassen's candidacy. A recent Pennsylvania newspaper poll failed to reveal any substantial strength for Stassen, hidden or otherwise

Too Much Early Foot?

It may be Stassen's misfortune to have been over-blessed with what the horse players call early foot His career is most notable for a fast start which made him governor of Minnesota in 1938—aged 31 years—the youngest man in the United States holding gubernatorial office

Stassen was keynote speaker at the 1940 Republican National Convention when the late Wendell L. Willkie kidnaped the party nomination

Stassen's troubles with the Republican old guard began about then He turned directly from his keynote speech to become Willkie's convention floor manager, a most unusual maneuver because the convention keynoter is supposed to maintain at least an appearance of impartiality.

Such unpredictable behavior has since been Stassen's political record, right up to his effort last year to head off the re-nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Unabashed by the knockout, he took on that, Stassen was more recently in the new attributing Republican loss of Congress last year to Nixon's presence on the party ticket.

Stassen baffles the politicians. Many probably would rather lose Pennsylvania again next year than to see Stassen elected governor. A decision to run in view of the political enemies he has earned among Republicans probably could be explained only by relief that Mr. Eisenhower is dead on the level about setting up a new party of moderate Republicanism and is seeking bright young faces to run for high office under that banner.

Stassen perfectly fits the age qualification He will be 50 years old next April 3 He qualifies as a Pennsylvanian by reason of his transfer of state allegiance in 1948 to become president of the University of Pennsylvania, a job he held until 1953

Frowns From Old Guard

Old guard party members learn of his ambition with amazement which would turn to dismay if the Stassen - for - governor - and-later-president movement matures.

Defense Secretary Charles E Wilson, an automotive engineer with a way with words coined a phrase for Stassen the other day. Said Wilson

"He has too much horse power for his fly wheel"

To that, the old guard probably would sigh Amen

Love, Honor, Bermuda New Marriage Vow

By MARGARET LATROBE

Fancy foreign honeymoons are probably a ranking reason for the high American divorce rate. Brides who mentioned, "love, honor and Bermuda" in their vows are unhappy if they can't go back every year 'And brides who missed out on the fancy honeymoon grow irritable reading of someone else's good fortune

Mrs. Latrobe

Beginning wedlock in surroundings palatial gives a pride delusions fantasial. "Why don't we just stay here darling' This hotel ($40 a day) life suits me fine '

Romance, you know, is getting sensible Modern lovers no longer trust delirious infatuation, one-day engagements and love at first sight — departments highly regarded in my day. Instead there are personality charts, social adjustment meters and diplomas from household budgeting courses bringing the right couples together

Why not, then carry this logic further and cut out the moonlight and ocean-going honeymoon? Why not put the money in an interest-bearing trust fund for a sabbatical holiday after the little lady has had a stint with egg-beater and washing machine? Even dimmed by well-aimed old shoes and rice grains, honeymooners aren't competent to appreciate the grandeur that was Rome — or is it Cuba's Morro Castle"

So much for recently wed girls How about those of us who might have married during the Depression, and spent the honeymoon helping Pop look for a job — any job Or those war brides, whose handsome heroes got a long foreign trip — alone — while the little woman went back to her job?

Can't we arrange a retroactive clause in that marriage contract to include a botanical garden or two'

'Wherever you are is where I want to be, dear . but how do you like to be someplace where I haven't been' Now I just happen to have this travel folder . . "

The Lighter Side—

The Man Who Invented 'Thimk' Is Discovered

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—All hail, today, the silly sloganeer—the man who started us laughing at our pompous selves.

Taking a bow, in all modesty, is an obscure genius who has been hiding his light under the huckster's bushel that is Madison Avenue His name is J Clarke Mattimore. He is an advertising man

His soul belongs to hard-sell heaven but in a larger sense his talent belongs to the ages The month was September. The year was 1952 Mattimore, probably wearing a sincere tie, sat at his desk.

He fiddled with pencil and brain cell. He doodled. He went to the water cooler, returned, took pencil in hand and wrote:

'THIMK!"

A fad was born

Unaware of the oomph of what he had wrought, he casually lettered "THIMK!" onto a placard-size sheet and put it on his desk.

Loungers-by began snickering. Mattimore was inspired He had 100 sampler-size "THIMKS" made up and sent to his friends. Sensational!

Well, you know what followed, THIMKS bloomed on desks around the world. Hard on their heels came "SNILE'" and then a myriad such drolleries as "Think before you louse it up" and "We never make misteaks" and "Plan ahead' (with the last three letters so crowded that they barely squeeze onto the card)

It must be recorded here that another genius, Manny Ress, the poet of politics who gives us the button-slogans that illuminate our campaigns, reached the nadir of his career when he rejected 'THIMK!'

Before ever a card was printed, Mattimore suggested to Manny that he make a lapel button with "THIMK!" on it Manny thought it over and decided it wouldn't catch on Tsk, tsk

Manny is the fellow who gave us such convention-time piffle as "We need Adlai badly," "Averell will fill the bill," "Stassen, stop harassin.'" and (way back in 1947) "I like Ike."

West Newton Is Sentimental Choice

The sentimental favorite in the Class B Division of the WPIAL Tournament is West Newton. The Golden Hornets will make their debut tomorrow against Perryopolis at Connellsville in the Section 17 playoff game. They are operating for the final time under S. S. Townsend, veteran basketball coach who will retire at the end of the current school term. Townsend, who started his coaching career in Monessen way back in 1915 when he organized the first Greyhound quint, has turned in one of his finest jobs this season. He has his boys in the tournament even though the star member of his cast — Andy Kasic — hasn't played a minute this year because of a football injury.

* * *

At least Derry Twp. coach Kendall Grote will be in a fighting mood when his students take on Charleroi next Wednesday in the WPIAL Tournament. The post-season show has already cost Kendall $300. En route to the WPIAL tournament drawings last week, his car was rammed on the Parkway and the back end smashed in . . . Ford City coach Hube Rupert explained his team's poor showing against Redstone in the WPIAL the other night as follows: "We just froze." . . . Donora Junior High basketballers averaged 43 points per game the past season, limiting their foes to 29.7. All of which resulted in a fancy 19-1 record.

* * *

Russell Also Top Baseball Pitcher

Dave Russell, the valley's top schoolboy basketball scorer this season, is also quite a baseball pitcher at Donora High. He figures to be one of the district's top all-around athletes next season. In football, he quarterbacks the Dragons . . . Coach Frank Lignelli already has his Monongahela High soccer team working out. He has seven lettermen to help defend the WPIAL crown won last season . . . In McKeesport, sports editor Merrill Granger selects Charleroi as a darkhorse in the current WPIAL show. "Have a feeling the Cougars have that old intangible named Desire," writes Granger . . . Eli Freville and Dave Schaum, representing Monessen, have taken the doubles lead in the annual Pennsylvania and Ohio duckpin tournament at Laurel Lanes in Uniontown. Their total stands at 1,174.

* * *

The current WPIAL Basketball Tournament will move along at a leisure pace, with lots of rest between games for competing teams. The lazy schedule was made possible by the fact that the WPIAL kingpin has drawn a bye in the first round o fthe PIAA playoffs . . . Monongahela's Don Burke, a member of the all-Section 5 quint in 1954-55, will be one of the starters for the North Carolina College Eagles when they take part in the 12th CIAA Tournament in Durham beginning tonight. North Carolina College has a 12-3 record at the moment . . . WDUQ, the Duquesne University radio station has a new feature entitled "Buc Preview." Pirate biggies will be interviewed on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6:05 p. m.

Janosik Offers Advice to Charleroi

Speaking at a luncheon in Charleroi earlier this week, Monessen High basketball coach Frank Janosik cautioned Cougar fans to let their favorites alone in preparation for the upcoming tourney appearance. Janosik pointed out that a coach has a tough enough time as it is to get his team ready, without fans complicating the problem . . . At the same luncheon, Donora cage boss Jerry Wunderlich observed that the Cougars have the material but he added: "They'll have to be right mentally. There were some games I saw when they were operating on only 50 percent attitude. That will never do in the tournament." . . . All of which was a polite way of saying that the Cougars will have to buckle down from start to finish in all tourney appearances.

Cro-Ams, Viaduct to Resume Series

Aspinwall Nips Neville, 42-40

By UNITED PRESS

Pierce Frauenheim sank two free throws, the second dropping in as the final gun sounded, to give Aspinwall a 42-40 victory over Neville on the Dormont court Thursday night in a Class B. first round game of the WPIAL basketball tournament.

Frauenheim's brother, Dan, was high scorer for the evening with 13 points as Aspinwall, Section 19, won its 21st consecutive game. Neville, Section 22, was led by Charles Rugeri with 10 points.

Aspinwall will play the winner of Saturday's West Newton-Perryopolis game in McKeesport March 8. The West Newton-Perryopolis game is for the Section 17 title.

A doubleheader at the Pitt Field House in Pittsburgh tonight matches Mt. Lebanon against Washington in a game which will decide the Section 4 title and Scott, Section 7, against Coraopolis, Section 9, in a first-round tournament contest.

Larsen Signs With Yankees

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Don Larsen, the World Series perfect game hero, apparently is somewhat less than perfect when it comes to negotiating for an extra big basket of that green folding stuff.

This was made clear Thursday when the 27-year-old pitcher who found immortality last Oct. 9 signed with the New York Yankees for $17,000 — about $10,000 less than he was demanding. Larsen made $12,500 in 1956.

Although he had only an 11-5 record during the American League season, Larsen insisted in January that he would get "about $27,500 or might wind up tending bar." This extravagant "threat" cut no ice, however, with General Manager George Weiss, who made it clear from the start that one perfect game hadn't erased the memory of an imperfect season.

Sees Bucs As Real Contender

TAMPA, Fla. (UP) —Birdie Tebbets envisioned a five club race for the 1957 National League pennant today, putting the Pirates and the Cardinals in the contending group along with the Dodgers, Braves and his own Redlegs.

The plump, ruddy - faced Tebbets, starting his third season as manager of the Redlegs, is high on the chances of his own club, but predicted the race this coming season could go down right to the wire just as it did last year.

"They're all saying the Dodgers, Braves and my own team are the clubs to beat," the plain - spoken former star catcher observed. "But in my book, they're making a mistake by overlooking the Pirates and the Cardinals."

Ennis To Help

He predicted the addition of Del Ennis and pitchers Sam Jones and Jim Davis "will make a big difference in the Cardinals."

"I figure that if Stan Musial, Wally Moon, Ken Boyer and Wilmer Mizell come up with good years and those three new players help them as much as I think they will, St. Louis could be as tough as any club in the league," Tebbetts said.

As for the Pirates, he likes their pitching.

"Don't forget they had good pitching last year even with Vernon Law and Dick Hall way off form because of injuries. When you add them to Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline, Elroy Face, Nelson King and those other pitchers, the Pirates figure to have what it takes in that department."

Points To Five

As for Pittsburgh's hitting, the Redlegs skipper pointed to Dale Long, Frank Thomas, Bill Virdon, Lee Walls and Bob Clemente.

"There is nothing wrong with them with a bat in their hands," Tebbetts added. "And this young catcher, Danny Kravitz, has power, too. He needed a little more polish last year so Bobby Bragan (manager of the Pirates) sent him down to the minors for more seasoning. But our scouts tell me he is ready now."

He figured it wouldn't take much for either his Redlegs, the Braves or Dodgers to take it all.

"Each of the three of us can point to players who had bad seasons last year and figure to do better," Tebbetts reasoned.

City League Teams in Tourney

All-star teams from City Leagues in Monessen, Donora, Charleroi and Monongahela have been invited to participate.

Pairings for opening night action will be announced on Monday. Games will begin at 7:30 and 9 p. m.

Donora is the defending tournament champion. Monessen is the runner-up.

Watch the Birdie!

CHARLEROI DIDN'T WANT IT — This huge trophy — intended for Charleroi High's 1952 football team — lies unclaimed in the office at Monessen High School. The award was set up by the Monessen Junior Chamber of Commerce to "cement friendly relations" between the two schools. It was to go annually to the winner of the Charleroi-Monessen game. However Cougar officials refused to accept the award, claiming that it merely added "emphasis" to the rivalry. However the star of the game, Charleroi quarterback Jim Lenhart, accepted an award as the game's most valuable player. After the "snub," the Jaycees dropped the idea.

N. Carolina After Perfect Floor Record

By UNITED PRESS

North Carolina seeks to complete a perfect basketball season tonight against a Duke team "steamed up" for an upset.

If Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels can win this old-rivalry battle at Raleigh, N.C., they'll finish the regular court campaign with a 24-0 record and become the South's first perfect record team since the Kentucky Wildcats of 1954.

But Duke, unbeaten on its home court this season where its victims include the 1957 Kentucky squad, lost to North Carolina by only 75-73 on the Tar Heels' court earlier this season and is burning for a victory that could destroy their No. 1 national ranking as well as the perfect season.

PCC Showdown Begins

Also on tap tonight is the start of the big "showdown" in the Pacific Coast Conference — the first of two games in two nights between UCLA and California, the arch-rivals for the league title. California leads with an 11-1 mark and four to play, while UCLA is 11-2 with three left.

And in the Skyline Conference, pacemaker Brigham Young seeks a victory over New Mexico that would clinch at least a tie for the league title.

Notre Dame was added Thursday to the field for the NCAA Tournament as a "member at large." The Irish, with a 16-7 mark and two left, will meet either Miami of Ohio or the Ohio Valley Conference champion in a game at Columbus, Ohio, March 12.

Thursday night's action saw Joe Gibbon of Mississippi fail in his last regular season game in his effort to seize the national scoring lead from Grady Wallace of South Carolina. Gibbon scored only 25 points as Mississippi lost to Mississippi State, 81-73. He remained in second place nationally with an average of 30.05 points per game to Wallace's 30.5.

Cro-Ams Bow at Donora

Coach Paul Kunsa's Monessen Cro-Ams tasted defeat for the first time this season in a "challenge" game last night at Donora.

The locals dropped a 53-47 decision to the undefeated Donora Croatian Club.

The game was staged as part of a triple-header benefit for the March of Dimes.

Kunsa's Monessen boys lost because they couldn't cash in at the foul line. The Cro-Ams made just five of 19 free throws while the Donorans hit on 11 of 20 attempts.

Both teams were even in field goals at 21 each.

Donora led throughout most of the game. Monessen did take a 31-28 advantage briefly in the third period, but the host Donorans roared right back to regain control.

Kubic High

Ed Kubic, who made 11 points in the first period, paced the victors with 21.

Dave Wunderlich, son of Donora High coach Jerry Wunderlich, chipped in with 13.

The Cro-Ams were paced by Kunsa, who had 11. Bob Petty came through with 10.

Monessen had gone into the game with 17 straight wins, while the Donorans had a 16 in a row to their credit.

Seven Footer Looks for Foes

ROME, (UP) — Assen Ivanov, 39-year-old seven-foot Hungarian refugee, announced here Wednesday he is ready to go to America "or anywhere else in the free world" to take on all comers in boxing or wrestling. Ivanov, who fled from his strife-torn country, said "there was nobody who had guts enough to face up to me in Eastern Europe I hope I won't have the same problem in the West."

Hammer Champ In Czechoslovakia

LONDON (UP) — According to the Czech News Agency, Harold Connolly, America's Olympic hammer throwing champion, has arrived in Czechoslovakia to train with Czech athletes. The agency said Connolly will train with Czech athletes until March 6 and will hold a "discussion evening" with them.

Another Win Will Earn 1957 Title For Cro-Am Five

The Cro-Ams will be out to complete the first perfect season in City Basketball League history tonight at the Junior High gym.

They will take on Viaduct in the second game of their best-of-three title series beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Last Monday, the Cro-Ams battered Viaduct, 70-44, to take a one game lead in the title bout. A win tonight will wrap up the crown.

Coach Paul Kunsa's boys have handled 17 City League opponents without a setback. That's a truly fantastic record for City League play.

The Cro-Ams are expected to start their usual lineup against Viaduct: Fred Uhlman, Sam Dominico, Bob Petty, Tony Crisi and Kunsa.

Viaduct, defending league champion, will counter with Bill Mitnick, Mike Young, John Mesher, Dick DiCenzio, and Chips DeFelicis.

Two Losses

In regular season play, Viaduct lost twice to the Cro-Ams on scores of 44-28 and 52-44.

On the basis of those statistics the Cro-Ams are heavy favorites to end the title series tonight.

Should Viaduct win, then a third and deciding game will be necessary. Significantly, Viaduct rallied from a one game deficit last year to win the league crown.

If the series is forced into a third game, it will be played tomorrow.

Preliminary Game

An interesting preliminary game has been booked for tonight beginning at 7:30.

The Donora Croatian Club — only team to top the Monessen Cro-Ams this season — will meet the Fuoco All-Stars.

For the occasion, the Fuocos have loaded up. Their starting lineup will include Ed Sanc, John Trembush, Leroy Stover, Henry Studnicki and Jim Bricker.

The visitors will open with Ed Kubic, Frank Bolek, John Koskoski, John Chatlak and Davy Wunderlich.

IBC Signs New Television Pact

NEW YORK (UP) — Friday night boxing bouts promoted by the International Boxing Club will continue to be nationally-televised and broadcast for two years under a new $10,400,000 contract announced Wednesday.

The pact between the IBC and the shaving razor company (Gillette) which sponsors the shows will begin on June 1 and the shows will again be carried over the NBC networks.

Idaho Tackle Goes to Canada

VANCOUVER, B. C., (UP) — Dirk Foster, a tackle at the University of Idaho and a draft choice of the Washington Redskins has signed a professional contract with the British Columbia Lions of Canada's Western Football Conference. Hennon Credits Dad for Success

Pitt All-American Says Father Taught Him Floor Fundamentals

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Practicing defensive play in galoshes and wearing glasses covered with adhesive tape to improve dribbling are unorthodox means of achieving basketball skills but Don Hennon said today "father knows best."

The 5-feet-9 University of Pittsburgh sophomore who was named to the United Press "Small America" basketball team attributes his success to the fundamentals taught by his father.

Butler Hennon is the basketball coach of the Wampum High School, about 40 miles from Pittsburgh. Don was a senior at Wampum when his team went undefeated to win the Pennsylvania Class B scholastic title.

Young Hennon needs only 22 points to reach the 500 mark this season. The only other Panther who equalled this mark was Ed Pavlick with 622 points in the 1954-55 season.

Don wound up his high school basketball career with 2,376 points, a state scholastic scoring record. He had his pick of 70 college scholarship offers but chose Pitt because of its medical school.

Pitt Sharpshooter

The Pitt sharpshooter has scored three A's and two B's in the class room the first semester. His floor ability has won praise from Dr. H.C. Carlson, who coached Panther basketball teams for 31 years.

"Hennon is a living monument to great pedagogy," said Carlson who is now Pitt director of student health.

"He is living proof that a great basketball player cannot be measured by stature alone. The heart still has a lot to do in winning basketball games. Don has mastered all the fundamentals which many players do not achieve after four years of college ball."

Bob Timmons, who succeeded Carlson as Pitt coach, regards Hennon as a "Easter bunny."

"Don is like an Easter bunny," Timmons said. "Once he finds the basket, everything goes in it."

Pitt closes its basketball season against Penn State Saturday, giving Hennon a chance to reach the 500 point circle. The Panthers are in the running for a post-season tournament bid.

Don's ability to dribble quickly and hand off deftly can be attributed to his father's "blindfold dribbling" innovation. Each Wampum High player wears glasses covered with adhesive tape while practicing dribbling. The players can see over the rims of the glasses but the ball and floor are hidden from view."

"I have found over the years that this exercise is terrific as a developer of finger tip control which to me, is important," said the elder Hennon.

Lee Walls Ends Holdout; All Bucs Now Signed

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP)—Outfielder Lee Walls, the Pittsburgh Pirates' only holdout at the start of spring training, has signed his 1957 contract.

He agreed to terms after a 90-minute talk with General Manager Joe Brown here Thursday night.

Walls had received a salary increase in the 1957 contract originally offered him but had held out for an additional $1,000. It was reported he compromised for half that amount.

Walls was one of six players missing when the Pirates opened spring training Thursday. The others, pitchers Luis Arroyo and Gonzalo Naranjo, infielder Bill Mazeroski and outfielders Roberto Clemente and Roman Mejias, missed plane connections or had visa trouble and were expected here soon.

The opening day's drill found pitchers Bob Friend and Vernon Law throwing in batting practice.

Manager Bobby Bragan said there would be more emphasis on fundamentals this season than last year.

"We had a good camp here last year," he said, "but perhaps we stopped drilling on fundamentals too soon. This year we will spend all of our time here with some fundamental work each day."

Bragan said he felt the squad has "more depth and more strength than at this time a year ago."

Brickner Will Begin Series of Swim Exhibitions

Gus Brickner, 45-year-old Charleroi steelworker who wants to swim the English Channel this year, plans a busy schedule of exhibitions the next few weeks to publicize a drive for funds.

Brickner, who dips into the Monongahela River every day of the year despite the temperature, figures it will take about $5,000 to challenge the Channel. He is hoping that district sports fans will help finance his trip.

An account has been opened by Brickner backers in the First National Bank in Charleroi. All contributions will be returned if not enough money is raised to finance the trip to the Channel.

To publicize the fund drive, Gus will take part in a series of exhibitions during the next few weeks.

On Saturday at 3 p. m., he'll jump into the Monongahela near WESA in Charleroi. On Sunday, he'll stroke in the Youghiogheny River at Connellsville.

On March 10, Gus has a date in New Kensington. He is also slated to appear at Wheeling, W. Va., on Mrch 17 and in East Liverpool, O., on March 24.

Williams, Reese Look Good In Early Spring Workouts

By UNITED PRESS

Ted Williams and Peewee Reese, a pair of 38-year old pros, made it clear today they won't be settling back in that old rocking chair for at least another season.

Big Ted, who smashed a dozen "homers" during the Boston Red Sox' batting drill Thursday, predicted he'll play at least 100 games this year and perhaps "start as many as 125." That game total would insure Ted another crack at the fifth American League batting title he is so eager to win.

Williams played in 136 games last season and hit .345—only eight points behind Mickey Mantle's A.L.-leading figure.

Intends To Stick

Reese, starting his 15th active year with the Dodgers, said he has "no intentions" of relinquishing his shortstop job and added, "I can still move as well as some of the other shortstops on contending clubs."

The Washington Senators, meanwhile, suffered a setback when prize rookie outfielder Dan Dobek left camp for military service. Dobbek had caught Manager Charley Dressen's eye in the Senators' first workout and the pilot thought he had come up with a real "sleeper."

On other fronts:

Bob Nieman, who hit .320 and drove in 68 runs last season, signed with the Baltimore Orioles for an estimated $25,000 and said he thought he and teammate Gus Triandos "can drive in 100 runs each this season if enough of our teammates get on base."

Three Braves Unsatisfied

Outfielder Wes Covington and first baseman Frank Torre signed with the Milwaukee Braves leaving only Lew Burdette, Ernie Johnson and Bill Bruton unsatisfied. Bruton is enroute from Milwaukee and believed ready to sign.

Ted Kluszewski delighted Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs when he weighed in at "only" 234 pounds for his first workout. Kluszewski favored his left hip during a light workout but said he "expected no serious trouble."

President Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants admitted he was "hopeful" of making a deal in the near future to replace catcher Bill Sarni, whose career was ended by a heart attack.

Dukes Defeat Brandeis, 86-73

By UNITED PRESS

The Duquesne Dukes kept alive their hopes for a post-season basketball tournament bid today following their 86-73 victory over Brandeis University at home.

Sophomore guard Bernie Matthews scored 26 points in the Thursday night contest to pace the Dukes to their 14th victory against seven losses. Duquesne took the lead after three minutes of play and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Rudy Finderson's 14 points was high for Brandeis, which has a 14-8 record.

In the only other Thursday night game involving a Western Pennsylvania team, Allegheny took a 58-46 licking from Western Reserve University at Cleveland. Allegheny guard Jim Newton was the game's high scorer with 20 points. Guard Bruce Fichter led the winners with 19 points.

Leinbergers Romp In Hearth Loop

Leinbergers swept over the Cutters and Bergstedts won a pair from the Bakers in Open Hearth Pitt League bowling last night.

Scoring leaders were Bob Koller, 147-409; Mike Cunko, 166-411; John Zdilla, 188-460; and Paul Petrusky, 175-448.

Standings show Cutters, 10-8; Bakers, 10-8; Leinbergers, 9-9; Bergstedts, 7-11.

Friend Quits At Tarentum

TARENTUM, Pa. (UP) — Dick Friend, head football coach at Tarentum High, has resigned to return to college coaching.

Friend, whose team posted an 8-1-1 record last fall in his only season as Tarentum coach, said he has received several college offers.

He previously had been an assistant coach at Notre Dame, his alma mater, and Indiana and head coach at Loras College, Iowa, and Monterey, Calif.

Gonsalves Takes On Rosi Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Lightweight contender Johnny Gonsalves, king of the "fancy Dans," matches his speed and guile tonight against the stunning punches of Italian Paolo Rosi in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

It will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 10 p.m. EST.

Although Rosi is unranked among 135-pound contenders, the baldish belter from Italy is favored at 9-5 because of his punch over third-rated Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., the highest-ranked "cutie pie" in any division. Johnny has an unbeaten string of 13, marred by one draw.

Blue Devils blanked Hellcats and Flyers took a pair from the Bombers in DIC bowling last night.

Friendship Circle Holds Meeting Tuesday Evening

Eighteen members attended the February meeting of the World Friendship Circle of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church Tuesday evening in the Parish House.

Mrs. Vera Gephart was the leader, using as her topic, "Youth Serves in New Ways". She was assisted by Mrs. Peggie Nesbit, Geraldine Monath and Mrs. Barbara Schneidmiller. Mrs. Nesbit took the part of a teenager engaged in Summer service. She brought out the fact that she attended a training conference and learned new ways to serve with other students from all over the world.

Luther League caravaning was the subject discussed by Miss Monath. After her training period at Wittenburg College, she took a trip across country to California, where she talked to pastors and leagues. She did a lot of public speaking and tried to help solve some of the problems.

Work Camper

Mrs. Schneidmiller discussed her life as a work camper, emphasizing that she learned to work and play in the company of others, and to share her experiences with others.

Wallaroo Hops Through Dallas Before Nabbed

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)— A four-foot wallaroo hopping merrily through suburban Dallas Thursday caused residents to rub their eyes in disbelief before he was subdued in a free-for-all wrestling match with a trio of zookeepers.

Wally the wallaroo, a cousin to the kangaroo, bounced past a workman entering his cage Thursday and spent an hour of freedom, wandering two miles from Marsalis Park Zoo.

He was cornered in the parking shed of an apartment house by Zookeeper George Bulloch. Bulloch and the wallaroo faced off for a last stand, and Gulloch got a grip on the beast.

Wally was dragging him around the shed when two assistants arrived in a pickup truck and subdued the errant wallaroo.

Wally was placed back in his cage. None of the combatants was injured.

Ike Doctrine Facing New Challenge from Sen. Richard Russell

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East today faced a new challenge in the Senate.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) and others drove for a vote by nightfall on their proposal to strip the doctrine of military and economic aid.

Administration forces believed they could defeat the proposal. But the vote could be close.

The State Department said the amendment would, "largely destroy" the doctrine's effect.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) took the floor to warn the Senate that approval of the amendment would "embarrass our government and dismay friendly Middle Eastern nations."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson called the Senate into session two hours early and scheduled an unusual Saturday session in a strong push for a final vote on the doctrine itself.

Other congressional news:

Elections— Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) proposed a "tough" new elections bill that would make candidates responsible for all money spent in their behalf. The bill would limit campaign spending on a per capita basis. The proposed scale would hold presidential campaign funds for each major ticket in 1960 to about $12.5 million.

Security— The Senate Internal Security subcommittee charged the "Communist underground apparatus" of the late Assistant Treasury Secretary Harry Dexter White brought about Nationalist China's economic destruction. The subcommittee said White and "his fellow conspirators" held back millions of dollars in gold shipments to China during World War II.

Porter— Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore) temporarily waited to demand a congressional investigation of his charge that the regime of Dominican strongman Rafael Trujillo was guilty of "liquidating" U.S. citizens. Porter said he wanted to see if his charge "aroused the American conscience."

Two Rattlesnakes Frighten Crowd

SARASOTA, Fla. (UP) — Two rattlesnakes slithered out of an overturned box at a snake-handling demonstration Thursday, frightening some 300 spectators.

Snake handler 'Texas" Jack Mitchell leaped from his lecture platform and grabbed the rattlers as they wriggled within five feet of the crowd. Mitchell picked the snakes up by their tails and dropped them back in the box before they could coil and strike.

Nixon Begins Tour of Africa

RABAT, Morocco (UP)-- Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived here today to begin an extensive three week tour of Africa aimed at countering Russia's campaign to communize the Dark Continent.

Nixon and his party, including his wife, Pat, landed at beflagged Rabat-Sale airfield at 10:55 a. m. in two U. S. Military Air Transport Service DC6B's.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan, cabinet officials and other government dignitaries and diplomats met the vice president at the airport.

The party was served the traditional repast of milk and dates before being driven to a meeting and lunch with the sultan.

Wheat Surplus Will Be Less

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department said today the high rate of exports indicates the wheat surplus on July 1 will be about 50 million bushels less than last year's near-record carryover.

A further reduction of more than 125-million bushels is possible by July 1, 1958, because of the prospect of a reduced wheat crop this year, the department said in its publication, "The Wheat Situation."

The department noted, however, that there is no danger of a wheat shortage in the United States."

To Legalize Tipping

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)— A bill in the Iowa Legislature would legalize tipping and thus make thousands of Iowans honest. The present law, never enforced, provides a $500 fine or a year in jail for tipping.

Steel Industry Prospects Good

NEW YORK (UP)—Steel industry prospects for the second quarter and later add up to "relatively pleasant reading," Iron Age said today.

The National metalworking weekly cited these strong spots in the economy to support its optimism in the months ahead:

Heavy durable goods orders;

Steel order backlogs which are running ahead of a year ago;

A better auto sales outlook than a year ago;

A 10 per cent increase in capital spending by industry;

The pick-up in farm buying;

Strong construction activity offsetting the weakness in home building.

Iron Age admitted that so far the sheet market (for autos and appliances) has been weak but said mills are taking up the slack by rolling light plate, a tight supply item.

At the same time Iron Age said the cutback in auto inventories, which has been a primary cause for weakness in sheet, "can't get much worse."

One of the big three is still playing it "close to the vest," it said, but the other two major producers are booking "substantial" tonnages.

Iron Age said there is strong demand for plate, structurals and oil country goods and "no sign of a let-up." It added "tinplate is another product going well and likely to do even better in the months ahead."
